

Fifteen Years After 3.11: From Memory to Action in Medicine, Science, Communication, and Resilience

CULTURAL & INNOVATIVE
EVENINGS at CGJ
Boston

提供: 陸前高田市 (Provided by City of Rikuzentakata)

Fifteen years after 3.11, we revisit the role of science and technology in building resilience. We welcome Prof. Norman Harris, who flew from Boston to the disaster area in the week after 3.11, and Dr. Isamu Amir, who has advocated evidence-based communication to counter misconceptions and reduce stigma following the Fukushima accident. Join us as we look beyond 3.11 and explore how science, medicine, and communication shape resilience.

Where: 100 High St. 6th Fl
Boston, MA 02110
When: Tuesday, April 28th
